

2.

Magazine Spread

Description:

In our second project, Magazine Spread, you will select 10 products you think are well designed from the user perspective, their formal beauty, or a mixture of both. Next you will design a magazine spread to emphasize these products, clearly captioning them within a consistent system. If you'd like you can look at this like you're a celebrity and these are your favorite things or products you can't live without. You do not need to own these products, you just have to have experienced them at some point.

- What I Can't Live Without - The Strategist

Requirements:

- Spread is designed, printed, and trimmed at 16" x 10" (8" x 10" pages).
- Spread must include: headline, two typefaces, page numbers, running footer.
- 10 products must each include: the brand, full name of product, price, one sentence on why you love it/why its design works well from your perspective (written in first person).

Goal:

Design a magazine spread that demonstrates a clear typographic hierarchy while effectively captioning 10 products.

Objectives:

- Develop a captioning system that can accommodate a variety of product info.
- Align elements to create associations between type and image elements.
- Compose hierarchy through: scale, emphasis, contrast, balance, repetition, alignment and flow.
- Adjust leading, type size, and line length to create legibility.
- Use typography, color, and composition to create a design that reinforces your headline and intended mood.≠
